

Volunteering at the Minsk International Film Festival "Listapad" on three occasions and the International Theatre Forum "Teart" once were among the happiest times of my life. These experiences immersed me in vibrant cultural exchanges, fostering a deep appreciation for the arts as a medium for dialogue and understanding. Managing foreign delegates, interpreting during events, and coordinating logistics honed my organizational and communication skills. These roles align seamlessly with the European Humanities University's mission to promote civil society development through Humanities and Liberal Arts. They also reflect EHU's goals of fostering intercultural dialogue, civic engagement, and innovative approaches to education. Through these volunteer experiences, I have embraced EHU's vision of integrating Belarus into the broader European academic and cultural community, and I am eager to further this mission as a member of the EHU community.
